2009 Collection Trip Guide

Hello Friends,

Welcome to the 5th annual BigBird Collection Trip and Bar-B-Que. The number five [5] makes this year a special event. "Special" because it represents the hand. I am very happy that your presence here has played a hand in the success of this event. Thank you for your participation and we hope you enjoy the planned activities. Happy Reefing.

Safety Information

1. Do not forget Sunblock. It has been a bright, hot summer.
2. Do not forget Water. For the same reasons above.
3. Non slick shoes, tennis shoes would be best to use while going out to collect.
4. When leaving the pavement onto the sand, pay attention. There is soft sand to the left side of the dune
5. Whatever you are taking out to the jetties, you must be bring back, remember to travel light.

Robert 'Bob' Fenner

Bob is a content provider to the (ornamental) aquatics hobby and trade, dive/travel adventure and underwater natural history genres; writer, and photographer. Though retired since 1994, he continues to have great success as a consultant on aquaculture and aquarium installations.

Bob has "lived" the science, hobby and business of aquatics in areas like the Philippines, Japan and United States. All phases; collector, wholesale, jobber, retail, design, and construction/maintenance. All levels from manager, owner, hatchery worker, retail clerk, technician. Aside from a period teaching high school sciences for four years, he has been dedicated to the field of ornamental aquatics.

Academic experience includes several life science degrees and teaching credentials for chemistry, physics and biology. Published works include multiple studies on aquatic biological and chemical questions, an extensive list of book and article submissions. Bob co-authored The Conscientious Marine Aquarist, Fishwatcher's Guide to the Tropical Marine Aquarium Fishes of the World, Natural Marine Aquariums Reef Invertebrates. Mr. Fenner has also taught multiple levels of High School sciences, and Marine Sciences and Aquariology courses at the post-secondary level while associated with the University of California.

Bob has been an avid aquatic hobbyist since day one and is active in a multitude of hobbyist and scientific organizations. Currently Mr. Fenner works as a leading consultant providing content to the trade, sciences and hobby of aquaristics.
